Using Bloom's Taxonomy to Write Learning Goals

Level	Description	Verbs		Sample Objectives
Knowledge	Recognizes students' ability to use rote memorization and recall certain facts	cite define identify label list match	name recall recognize reproduce select state	The students will recall the four major food groups without error. The students will list at least three characteristics peculiar to the Cubist movement.
Comprehension	Involves students' ability to read course content, understand and interpret important information and put other's ideas into their own words	classify convert describe explain extend give examples	illustrate interpret paraphrase summarize translate	The students will summarize the main events of a story in grammatically correct English. The students will describe in prose what is shown in graph form.
Application	Students take new concepts and apply them to another situation	apply arrange compute construct demonstrate discover modify	operate predict prepare produce relate show solve use	The students will apply previously learned information about socialism to reach an answer. The students will demonstrate the principle of reinforcement to classroom interactions.
Analysis	Students have the ability to take new information and break it down into parts to differentiate between them	analyze associate determine diagram differentiate discriminate distinguish	estimate infer order outline point out separate subdivide	The students will read a presidential debate and point out the passages that attack a political opponent personally rather than the opponent's political programs. Students will discriminate among a list of possible steps to determine which one(s) would lead to increased reliability for a test.

Synthesis	Students are able to take various pieces of information and form a whole creating a pattern where one did not previously exist	combine compile compose construct create design develop devise formulate write	integrate modify organize plan propose rearrange reorganize revise rewrite tell	After studying the current economic policies of the United States, student groups will design their own goals for fiscal and monetary policies. The students will write a different but plausible ending to a short story.
Evaluation	Involves students' ability to look at someone else's ideas or principles and see the worth of the work and the value of the conclusions	appraise assess compare conclude contrast criticize		Given any research study, evaluate the appropriateness of the conclusions reached based on the data presented. The students will compare two pieces of sculpture, giving reasons for their positive evaluation of one over the other.